SPRING OFFER

Teeth can vary greatly in appearance, even perfectly healthy teeth can appear yellow and over years teeth can naturally get darker. Whitening is a safe and effective way of achieving whiter teeth without any invasive treatment.

How does it work?

The whitening gel acts on the enamel by releasing molecules of whitening agent through the tubules in the teeth through to the dentine. The gel bleaches out the natural colour of the teeth making them whiter in colour.

What is involved?

The dentist will take impressions of your teeth and very thin plastic trays will be made to fit your teeth closely. Two weeks later these will be checked by the dentist to make sure they fit and the natural shade of your teeth will be recorded. Your dentist will then give you a full set of instructions to enable you to take your trays and whitening gels home.

Should I encounter any problems?

Whitening teeth causing no damage to the teeth however some people may experience short term sensitivity, this is not a problem and can be overcome very quickly .

Did you know?

Periodontal Disease is an infection that affects the gums and bone surrounding the teeth. It is caused by the bacterial plaque build up. Plaque is a soft, sticky film of bacteria that builds up on the teeth, it can be removed by tooth brushing, flossing and other interdental cleaning methods such as using interdental brushes. Inflammation of the gums where plaque is not removed, is called 'gingivitis'. If left untreated this can lead to periodontal disease. Where periodontal disease occurs, the bacteria grow down under the gum, the gums then detach to form 'pockets', as a result this can affect the bone causing bone loss and ultimately may lead to tooth loss if not treated.
